

TIGER Put Up and Takedown Policies

1.0 TIGER Background

The TIGER (Transforming Interprofessional Groups through Educational Resources) project is a consortium project between the Universities of Northampton, De Montfort and Leicester. It is funded by JISC (Joint Information Systems Committee) and the Higher Education Academy (HEA) and runs from September 2010 to August 2011. The focus of the project is to design and create Open Educational Resources (OERs) for Interprofessional Education (IPE) in Health and Social Care under a Creative Commons attribution, non-commercial, share-alike licence (CC BY NC SA).

2.0 What is a Put Up Policy?

A put up policy explains the process that the project has undertaken to ensure aspects such as permissions, quality control and intellectual property rights (IPR). Diagram 1 visually explains this process for the TIGER project.

3.0 What is a Takedown Policy?

The project has endeavoured to ensure appropriate permissions have been gathered for the OERs however if a user would like to make a complaint a removal policy for material is available (Take Down policy). To make a complaint you will need to email Tiger@dmu.ac.uk with the following details: your name, the name of the OER, the specific material within the OER, and details of your complaint. Diagram 2 visually explains the process.
